81 KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

Craft Falls As 'Ball of Fire'

ELKTON, Md. (AP)—Expert investigators looked for proof today that lightning caused the crash of a big Boeing 707 jet airliner in which 81 persons perished Sunday night.

The Pan American World Airways jet, en route from Puerto Rico to Philadelphia, fell in fiery fragments from 5,000 feet during a lightning storm.

About 65 persons had disembarked from the plane during a stop in Baltimore only 10 minutes earlier.

The proud airplane disintegrated in the air. Bits of wreckage fell over an area estimated by Sheriff Edgar Startt of Cecil County at four square miles. The crash occurred about 15 miles southwest of Wilmington, Del., near the Maryland-Delaware border and U.S. 40.

The Federal Aviation Agency in Washington said the plane was on a holding pattern near the New Castle, Del., Airport at 8:58 p.m. (EST) awaiting clearance to approach Philadelphia International Airport.

Then, said Raymond Gregg of Elkton, "It was just like the sun was coming at me. It was so bright I couldn't look at it."

Another witness, Henry Lindell of Newark, Del., said it was apparent to him that lightning had blasted the plane from the air.

"There were two large arched streaks of lightning in the air," he said. "An instant afterward the sky was completely lit up by a bright orange. You could see the parts of the plane starting to fall then."

Early today, 11 Civil Aeronautics Board and 7 FAA officials arrived to start the investigation. The area was cordoned off and flares sent an eerie light over the torn, blasted and charred wreckage.

There were few large pieces of wreckage, although one big jet engine dug a hole 100 yards from the home of Gregg. Small bits of airplane parts fell on the farmhouse roof of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Berry.

Edwin R. Tully, special agent in charge of the FBI office in Baltimore, said the flight recorder, which is designed to survive crashes and tell investigators about the minutes preceding the disaster, had not been found.

Tully confirmed that several witnesses had said lightning struck the plane.

Pan Am said Flight 214 departed San Juan at 4:10 p.m. and arrived in Baltimore at 7:35 p.m., where the 65 passengers got off. It left Baltimore at 8:25 p.m. and was expected in Philadelphia at 8:45 p.m., 15 minutes behind schedule.

The airline said the last known radio contact between the plane and ground was a terse, terrifying message:

"Going down in flames at 0158 Zebra" (8:58 p.m. EST).

The message reportedly was overheard by the ground control center in New Castle, Del., and at Dover, (Del.) Air Force Base.

Witnesses said burning fragments spiraled lazily to the ground, then exploded into small fires despite a pelting rain.

Jerry Greenwald, 20, of Hockessin, Del., watched the crash from a window of the Merryland Roller Rink near Glasgow, Del.

"It looked like a bomb explosion," he said. "There was a big flash and a few seconds later you could see the wing torn off. You could actually see people falling out. The plane came down slowly and when it hit the ground it looked like it exploded again."

The wreckage was so disintegrated that no bodies were found immediately. A temporary morgue, set up in the basement of the National Guard Armory in Elkton, was empty.

Red Cross workers sadly turned away a handful of relatives who drove from Philadelphia. Some 40 or 45 state policemen planned to help the federal agents comb the wreckage.

The scene was one of anguished sorrow at Philadelphia

Bolivian Miners Holding Hostages Serve Ultimatum

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—Communist-led tin miners holding four Americans among 21 hostages today gave the government 24 hours to free two arrested Communists or "suffer the consequences."

The Federation of Mine

Workers sent their word to the government by way of radio transmissions from their strongholds more than 150 miles south of this capital.

The miners, led by leftist Vice President Juan Lechin, defied a government troop buildup and an offer from President Johnson of full U.S. assistance to the government to win freedom for the hostages, held since Friday night.

The miners' broadcast said the union wanted the release of the two Communist union heads arrested by the government during the day Friday.

The leaders, Irineo Pimental and Federico Escobar, were arrested on a court order in connection with union agitation against a government crackdown on union power in the operation of the mines, Bolivia's main source of income.

The broadcast said the union was giving the government the ultimatum to resolve "The problem of the detained union leaders, and if it does not do so, it will have to suffer the consequences."

The broadcasts did not spell out what the consequences would be, but sources here said they could mean a threat to the safety of the hostages. The miners originally promised the hostages would not be harmed.

The government has said that under no circumstances would it set the two Communists free. President Victor Paz Estenssoro scheduled a Cabinet meeting, meanwhile, amid reports he will decree a state of siege.

One of the Americans, Thomas Martin, 21, of New York, a U.S. Information Service officer, contacted the U.S. Embassy Sunday night by radiotelephone for the second time since Saturday. He said he and the three other Americans were well. He said he was being held under strong military guard, but did not elaborate.

The government moved 1,000 troops into the region around Oruro, 30 miles north of Catavi, and said it would not give in to the miners' demand.

Friend of West Takes Thai Rule

Succeeds Sarit Who Died Sunday

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—Another staunch friend of the West held Thailand's government reins today following the death of Premier Sarit Thanarat.

The 55-year-old premier, one of America's closest friends in southeast Asia, died Sunday after a long illness. The Cabinet nominated Gen. Thanom Kittikachorn, the 52-year-old deputy premier and defense minister, to succeed him, and King Bhumibol Adulyadej appointed Thanom premier today.

With an eye on Communists who have been active in northeast Thailand, Interior Minister Praphas Charusathien warned the national police and provincial "subversives who could be active with the death of the premier."

Premier Thanom also ordered the armed forces to remain at their posts, on guard against any attempt to create disorder.

A medical bulletin said Sarit died of kidney and heart complications following aggravation of chronic liver trouble. He became ill Nov. 11 and the U.S. Army surgeon-general, Lt. Gen. Leonard Heaton, had been attending him since his condition worsened Nov. 28.

An Army man since the age of 20, Sarit in 1947 joined in the coup that returned Field Marshal P. Pibulsonggram to the premiership. Ten years later, following the normal pattern for Thai politics, he led a coup that ousted Pibul and exiled him to Japan.

Shortly after, Sarit's cirrhotic liver sent him to Walter Reed Hospital in Washington. Thanom, also an army career officer, headed the government in his absence.

While Sarit convalesced in Florida and England, friction developed in the ruling army group he left behind. In October 1955, Sarit hurried home, proclaimed martial law, suspended the constitution, dissolved the National Assembly and resumed active control of the government.

He had maintained that control ever since, pursuing a policy of militant anti-communism, close ties with the United States and economic development of the country to counter communism's attractions. Thanom, although he initially disliked politics, was the premier's right-hand man throughout.

Trucker Hurt Last Tuesday Succumbs

Six days after he was seriously injured in a one-vehicle mishap, a 29-year-old Pittsburgh truck driver succumbed Sunday night at 10:15 at Youngstown South Side Hospital.

Dead is Charles McFarland who sustained head injuries last Tuesday about 1 a.m. when his loaded steel truck went off the left side of Route 224, a half mile west of Canfield, and overturned.

Abducted by 2 Men at Gunpoint Sinatra's Son Kidnaped

STATELINE, Calif. (AP) — Frank Sinatra Jr., singing son of the famed crooner and film star, was abducted by two men at gunpoint Sunday night from his motel room just before he was to go on stage at a casino, sheriff's deputies reported.

Several hours later police radio broadcasts alerted all units to look for two men for questioning. They were identified as Joseph James Sorce, 23, and Thomas Patrick Keating, 21.

Officers available to newsmen gave no reason why the men were sought. Nor were they identified further.

In San Francisco, however, police said Keating and Sorce were wanted for a bank robbery in Long Beach and that they were escapees from a youth authority camp at Tracy, Calif. Authorities said the FBI had been called in on the case. Deputies immediately set up roadblocks on mountain roads in the Lake Tahoe area, already made difficult by three inches of snow.

Sheriff George Byers of Douglas County, Nev., said "we still think they are in the area," on the California-Nevada border. Sinatra is 19 years old.

Sinatra Sr. flew in his two-engine plane to the area early today from Palm Springs, Calif.

He was to start work this morning at Warner Bros. studio in Los Angeles on the movie, "Robin and the Seven Hoods." Only three months ago he announced he would divest himself of Nevada gambling interests estimated to be worth about $3.5 million.

He pulled out after the Nevada Gaming Control Board accused him of violating state regulations by entertaining Chicago underworld figure Sam Giancana at Sinatra's Cal-Neva Lodge on Lake Tahoe.

Ironically, young Sinatra was touring with a band, led by Sam Donahue, billed as the Tommy Dorsey Band. Sinatra Sr. rose to fame with that group, and in his act the younger Sinatra sang his father's old songs.

Also ironically, young Sinatra sang at Harrah's Lake Tahoe Casino, a competitor of his father's Cal-Neva Lodge.

Dragnet operations were directed by the El Dorado, Calif., County sheriff's office, because the abduction took place just within the California border. Stateline is 60 miles southwest of Reno.

Joe Foss, a trumpeter with the Dorsey band, told officers he and Sinatra Jr. were eating dinner in Sinatra's motel room. About 8:30 p.m., the telephone rang and Sinatra hung up after a brief conversation.

At about 9:30, Foss reported, there was a knock on the door and a shout of "room service."

North Central Areas Hit by Snowstorm

By The Associated Press
The season's most severe snowstorm which swept across North Central areas, dumping up to nearly a foot of snow in some sections, tapered off today as it moved slowly eastward.

Blizzard conditions were reported Sunday in some parts of the storm belt, which covered broad areas in the Dakotas, Minnesota and parts of Wisconsin, Michigan, Iowa and Nebraska.

At least five deaths were attributed to the storm.

Gusty winds swept the Prairie lands, causing much drifting of snow and creating hazardous driving conditions. Snow plows in some parts of the snow belt were unable to keep highways clear and maintenance crews halted work until the snow diminished.

Eight persons were injured near Little Falls, Minn., when a Greyhound bus carrying 21 passengers overturned after colliding with a car on a snowy highway.

Colder weather spread into the snow-covered region and temperatures were near zero in sections of North Dakota. Generally, readings were in the teens in most of the North Central region, with the 20s reported across most Northern sections.

In the East, rain fell from eastern Virginia northward through New York State and southern New England. In the West, rain splashed areas from central California northward, with rain and snow from the Pacific Northwest into the Northern Rockies. Heavy snow was indicated in parts of the Plateau region and the Rockies.

Near Miracle Ohio Boy Shot Through Heart Recovering

CLEVELAND (AP)—A bullet wound through the heart might have killed 8-year-old Harold Adams but for quick action by a family friend and the boy's father and the fact that the sac enclosing the boy's heart is large.

Doctors at Huron Road Hospital reported Sunday night that Harold was making a near-miraculous recovery. He was shot by a stray bullet Saturday while playing in the front yard of his rural home near Madison.

Dr. John Storer said the boy is expected to recover with no ill effects. The bullet, believed to be .22-caliber, is lodged near Harold's spine. Dr. Storer said the bullet may or may not be removed.

The boy's father administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation that restored breathing. Hospital attendants said the boy's large pericardium, or heart sac, was able to hold the blood that otherwise would have been lost.

Edwin I. Sjo of the Lake County Sheriff's Office said the shot may have been fired from a wooded area across the road or possibly from a nearby field.

Deputies questioned several hunters in the vicinity and confiscated rifles found in three nearby homes. Sjo said he planned ballistic tests if the bullet is removed.

Harold was found lying in the yard by Mrs. Dixon D. Eye of Painesville & who was coming to visit the Adams family.

"I thought he was just playing in the snow," Mrs. Eye said. "But he was laying so still that I hollered 'hi' to him. When he didn't answer I went into the house and told his mother that he was acting funny out there."

Mrs. Adams ran out and could detect no heart beat in the unconscious boy. She carried him into the house, where her husband, Ray, applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation until the Madison Fire Department rescue squad arrived.

Mrs. Adams said they did not know her son had been shot because there was no blood from the small wound in Harold's chest.

Tight Security Net Guards LBJ on Trip

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the tightest security nets ever wrapped around a president greeted Lyndon B. Johnson Sunday in his first trip from Washington as chief executive.

About 5,000 policemen, detectives and Secret Service agents were deployed along the route that took Johnson from Idlewild Airport to the funeral of former New York Gov. Herbert H. Lehman and then to the Waldorf-Astoria Towers for a call on ex-President Herbert Hoover.

Not until Johnson reached Temple Emanuel-EI for the Lehman funeral did the Secret Service, on a half-hour's notice, inform New York police that the President would visit the ailing Hoover.

Johnson, the nation's 36th president, thanked Hoover, the 31st, for a message the latter had sent when Johnson assumed the office after the assassination of President Kennedy on Nov. 22.

Hoover, a Republican, had messaged he was ready to help the new Democratic President "in any way I can," but he noted there was not much he could do at his age — 89.

In light of the Kennedy assassination, every conceivable precaution was taken to insure Johnson's safety during his 2-hour and 20-minute stay in New York.

Thirty-five blue-helmeted motorcycle policemen formed a phalanx around the President's closed limousine in the 15-mile trip from the airport to the temple. Thousands of policemen and detectives were deployed along that unannounced route, some manning rooftops.

Secret Service agents with two submachine guns rode in an open car immediately behind

Johnson Focuses On Federal Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's attention was focused today on the forthcoming federal budget—including a proposal to curb spending by eliminating some defense installations.

Johnson scheduled a morning meeting with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, to go over some aspects of the military budget.

Top Budget Bureau officials, including Director Kermit Gordon, were summoned to review spending plans for the Justice and State departments, the Veterans Administration and the Federal Aviation Agency.

Johnson told a news conference Saturday that he and McNamara were making a study of defense installations to determine if any could be eliminated.

An aide said one of the matters to be taken up during the day would be the possible consolidation of some military assistance groups overseas.

Under a new Johnson decision the payrolls of these assistance groups will be slashed by 10 percent within the next six months, even if none is eliminated.

Johnson worked in his office Sunday until about 7 p.m., when he took what has become a routine evening swim in the White House pool. Some of his late Sunday actions included:

—An order that $234 million of GI insurance dividends be paid to 4.7 million policyholders next month to help buttress the economy. Normally, payments would have been strung out through the year. President Kennedy ordered similar speed-ups in 1962 and 1963.

—Johnson offered the Bolivian government any aid it may need in order to hunt and free four American government workers kidnapped by miners who hope to force the release of two union officials held on criminal charges. The offer was said to include military assistance, including the loan of military helicopters and crews.

The President discussed the Bolivian situation with Secretary of State Dean Rusk after returning from a flying visit to New York to attend funeral services for Herbert H. Lehman

The Pryors were riding north in a small car operated by Mike I. Blair, 32, also of RD 1, Kensington, when the auto transmission locked. The car went off the left side of the road and struck an embankment. Blair was not cited.

A Professional President

This republic now starts a momentous experiment in government under President Johnson. Its importance should not be slighted in the hustle-bustle of day-to-day government.

Never before has a chief executive been a professional legislator. American presidents have been state governors, military heroes, public servants, academicians, diplomats. Sometimes they have been former members of the House of Representatives and the U.S. Senate. But never before has there been a U.S. president whose entire adult life was prelude and preparation for presidential efficacy.

President John F. Kennedy took up the task after serving an apprenticeship in the House and Senate, but he would have been first to acknowledge that he never reached the leadership status attained by his running mate.

VICE PRESIDENT JOHNSON came to Washington as a congressional secretary in 1930. In 1937 he won a House seat of his own and held it for six terms. Then he moved up to the Senate, where he quickly was acknowledged as one of its most effectual members.

It is all but forgotten now that he made his first presidential bid in 1956, winding up third in the balloting at the Democratic National Convention.

In 1960 he was the most experienced contender for the nomination, but his popular appeal was limited to the South and West, a fact that caused him to be offered the vice-presidential nomination. So much for the most unusual preparation any president of the United States has had.

What will it mean?

What will happen with a legislative master in the White House? How will representatives and senators react to this American version of the parliamentary system wherein the government leader always is a legislator?

IF PRESIDENT JOHNSON has retained his legislative know-how and representatives and senators have retained their follow-through, the United States will see a new dimension of presidential power. The stalemate which has existed between the White House and Congress since just before World War II when President Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal ran out of steam will be broken.

Lyndon B. Johnson, the man who lacked voter appeal outside the South in 1960, will become a stronger Democratic candidate in 1964 than John F. Kennedy would have been had he lived.

A major upheaval of U.S. political balance and tradition is in the making. Tremors are being felt in every quarter. Conservatives, never sure what President Kennedy might do next, think they can trust President Johnson. They believe he is on their side, though he supported the Rooseveltian New Deal, the Truman Fair Deal and the Kennedy administration's New Frontier.

Political pragmatists think they can trust President Johnson because he is on their side.

Southerners astride key congressional committees think they can trust him.

Party bosses think they can trust him. Even Republicans are putting their trust in him because they say he understands the workings of government; he will get results.

THIS IS A man, they say, who thinks of politics as the art of the possible and with such a man—they are beginning to say—things may become possible that never were possible before.

Timely Warning

The slippery condition of streets and highways last night should serve to remind Salem motorists that the return of winter weather means slower, more cautious driving. A skid at the wrong time could prove disastrous.

Snow or ice or a combination of both can put the best car and the best driver in the ditch.

Letter From Max

By Martin Miller

Dear Truman Twill:

Your recent remarks about the perilous state of freedom in our country opened a multitude of avenues of thought.

One of the first things you started me thinking about was citizen participation in government.

All over our land elected officials hold regular meetings to conduct government business openly but for all the attention most of us pay to these meetings the officials might as well be convening in mine shafts.

The way we taxpayers prefer to do things is to ignore our public officials until they do something we don't like, then scream like stuck pigs.

EVERY MEETING of every elected body is a form of public hearing, but the public is seldom heard from. Not long ago, legislative committee in our state was wrestling with a highly controversial issue and wanted to get viewpoints from as many people as possible, but the committee chairman was chagrined when hardly anyone came forward.

When you are wrestling with an issue, especially a controversial issue, if you aren't pretty good at wrestling the issue will throw you.

It is a sad thing when a taxpaying citizen denounces his elected officials for their actions, then belatedly discovers they had been hoping to hear from him.

Such ignorance is unforgivable in a democratic and republican form of government where voters are responsible for their own governmental destiny.

AS AN old observer of civic participation you know that our government and politics do not operate in a vacuum.

So how many times have you been at a meeting of township trustees, local school boards, city councils, state or congressional committees when the chairman has enquired, "And now we will entertain remarks and questions from the audience." And what do you get? Silence.

Next comes a general or special election, and the best laid plans of our elected officials go down the drain. So our duly elected officials sit there, dumfounded, wondering what hit them.

The whole purpose of this letter is to remind you that whenever public officials have a formal meeting in this country to spend our money you and I are entitled to be there and to question the procedure.

And even though we may not be able to attend, the official minutes of any such meeting are open to any taxpayer who wants to look for skulduggery.

AS OLD newspaper reporter, you and I are familiar with the tactic of a closed meeting wherein a public body tries to arrive at a decision on some particularly touchy issue. Such closed meetings often are referred to as "star chamber" meetings and newspapers are fond of roasting them. However, when and if the results of such meetings ever become effective they must be spread on the public record where any interested citizen or taxpayer can see them. That's the law.

Not one penny of tax revenue can be spent without the knowledge of anyone who wants to find out about it. Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty.

This is not to suggest that you raise an objection every time a money bill comes up.

But if you attend the meetings at least you know what you are talking about when you discuss public finance.

And while you are at it, old boy, tell the boys there is a big chuckhole in front of my house that I would like to have fixed but don't raise my taxes. Find some other way to pay for the repairs. You hear?

Faithfully yours,
MAX

"No, wise guy... Lady Bird can't come to the phone!"

Guilt Isn't Collective

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Now that the public mind has calmed after a confusion of tongues following the deplorable death of President Kennedy, it's time to consider the reality. The guilt, so far as we know, was not collective or the result of a conspiracy. It's a case of police efficiency, of security of those responsible for the safety of the President and of new measures that can be taken to prevent any similar tragedy in the future.

Wisely, the new President ordered the Federal Bureau of Investigation to gather all the facts.

The State of Texas is investigating.

And to prevent congressional committees from running off in all directions, the President has created a commission to assess the facts and make a report.

As Charles Evans Hughes once said, "Guilt is personal."

This is true except in cases of mob violence, and this crime was clearly not that of a mob. Whether there was a conspiracy of which the assassin was the instrument is a matter for determination, although it does not seem likely at this time.

THE QUESTION of security goes beyond the protection of the President and other public officials. It also concerns the presence in our midst of dangerous characters who are dedicated enemies of public order and of our institutions.

Our population also has within it a generous number of deplorable individuals, dope addicts and criminally inclined who are completely nonpolitical but dangerous.

Identification, surveillance, and control of these is the job of public authority. But many people who should know better have taken this matter into their own hands or, shall I say, their own mouths.

Among these are individuals who believe in collective guilt. We have been told that Dallas, or Texas, or the United States, or "all of us" are guilty. Some have rushed into print, or over the air waves, even onto pulpits. This has been an evidence of dangerous irresponsibility. It could have been foreseen because it has followed other such tragedies in the past.

The Voice of America rushed into its worldwide broadcasts, minutes after the criminal act, the allegation that Dallas has been the center of "the extreme right wing."

This was deleted in later broadcasts but it gave the Kremlin something to use against the United States.

AN ATTACK on Dallas and the right wing has been implicit in excited voices even after the identity of the assassin was measurably established. Two well-known professors of history have encouraged, in print, this prejudice against dissenters.

One of them, whose history textbooks are widely used in the schools, said the state of the public mind today in the United States "may be" even worse than when Lincoln was killed. This is arrant nonsense, since in April, 1865, bloody civil war still prevailed in people's minds although mass murder had been stopped.

To equate political dissent with hate and violence is to strike at an American principle which requires constant debate on national policies, no matter who is in public office.

A Dallas minister of the Gospel received great publicity for himself by indicting his own city.

No more "shame" attaches to Dallas than guilt might be attributed to Washington for the death of Lincoln or Garfield, or to Buffalo when McKinley died.

The minister buttressed his "argument" against Dallas by saying that children in a Dallas school "cheered" when the news of the crime was announced. But I know of an instance of this kind in a Northern city that claims to be the conscience of the nation.

SUCH COLLECTIVE indictments are in themselves a form of mob violence. They do not destroy hate. They are the very seeds of hate.

We must recognize this crime as a matter for greater official vigilance. In two previous instances of presidential assassination security measures were lax. The guard assigned to protect Lincoln left his post and gave Booth his chance. McKinley's very capable secretary, George Cortelyou, begged his chief to cancel the public reception where he was later murdered. But McKinley insisted upon his exposure.

We don't know all the facts about the assassination of President Kennedy but the measures to get the facts taken by President Johnson may help to clarify this job of irresponsible accusations.

VD Hits Nation's Youth

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Dr. William J. Brown, of Atlanta, Ga., has the job of seeing that syphilis is eradicated in the United States within the next 10 years. He thinks it can be done at a cost of around $100 million.

As chief of the venerable disease branch of the U.S. Public Health Service, his chief line of attack will be to get thousands of state public health investigators tracking down every hidden case of syphilis in the United States.

This means visiting 100,000 doctors every six months and another 130,000 doctors once a year for the next 10 years, persuading them to report all their syphilis cases.

It means personal interviews with every one of the 20,000 new syphilis victims now reported each year and tracing and interviewing the estimated 40,000 to 80,000 other new victims each year who keep their illness a secret. This will probably mean 500,000 to 750,000 interviews in the next decade.

IT MEANS FINDING, one way or another, the quarter of a million or more who secretly—many perhaps unknown even to themselves—have latent or congenital syphilis.

It may involve requiring hospitals to routinely give blood tests to all patients, stiff new lectures in the public schools and selling tougher parent-imposed standards for teen-agers.

DR. BROWN has no illusions about the size of the problem before him and the 50 state public health organizations.

"So far we have failed to locate, treat and properly follow up enough primary and secondary cases. Private physicians have been reporting only about 11 per cent of their infectious syphilis cases to local health authorities. This blocks us from reaching the sex contacts of their patients. We would like physicians to encourage their patients to talk with health department representatives who are trained in interviewing techniques."

BROWN TICKS OFF these disturbing facts:

1. Between 3,000 and 4,000 people will die this year of syphilis.

2. New cases reported are up 252 per cent since 1957. For six consecutive years the incidence has increased.

3. The "increased promiscuity of teen-agers" is a major problem. One out of five new syphilis victims is a teen-ager. The infectious syphilis rate among youth has tripled in five years. In one year alone there was a 59 per cent increase of infectious syphilis in the 15-to-19-year group, a 73 per cent increase among 20-to-24-year-olds.

4. Syphilis is moving up in the social-education scale to families with higher incomes and more education. It's now growing in the $8-to-$10,000 income class and upward.

Less than 5 per cent of the cases reported are blamed on prostitutes. Teen-age VD is no longer confined to slum neighborhoods or to juvenile delinquents. It is invading "good" neighborhoods and "nice" families.

AMONG POSSIBLE other reasons for the disease's increase Brown mentions:

1. Homosexuality is increasing. There's a possible rise in homosexual transmission.

2. Increased urbanization has caused "a breakdown of social restraints."

3. The population has greater mobility—one out of every four cases of syphilis is contracted out of the home state.

Gonorrhea and syphilis are now No. 3 and 4 on the infectious disease list, led only by measles and streptococcal infections.

Among untreated syphilitics, one in 200 will go blind, one in 50 go insane, one in 25 become crippled and one in 15 develop heart trouble—perhaps a decade or two after the signs of syphilis have disappeared.

Men who contracted syphilis, perhaps unknowingly, during World War II are now becoming victims of these delayed effects.

MEDICAL MEN have been trying to develop a vaccine for syphilis. So far, Dr. Brown says, they've had no major breakthrough which promises an early success. But, he explains, syphilis is easy to cure if caught in time. It can be cured, even if caught late, but the cure won't undo the damage the disease has already done.

Dr. Brown recommends that everyone include a blood test for syphilis routinely with every regular physical examination.

He says that the young should routinely have a test every year.

Appraising Johnson

By LAURENCE BARRETT

Nowhere was the magic of the American system so visible during this last crucible of two weeks as in the capital's handling of foreign affairs.

President Johnson, who before President Kennedy's death was the subject of cruel jokes (Lyndon who?), exchanged his Texas politician's setson for a statesman's dignity with ease. Yet he managed to retain the LBJ brand of earthiness. It was a remarkable performance.

The foreign mourners came as much to appraise the new President as to honor the dead one. It is difficult to see how anyone could have responded better than Mr. Johnson did.

Perhaps the best evidence that the system can survive came in Congress. It's natural, of course, for the legislators to make sounds of unity. And it's also natural that these sounds will mean little in the show-downs on such domestic tinder boxes as civil rights and the tax cut bill. But on foreign business it is another story.

Twice in President Johnson's first week the Congress responded to his humble, candid plea: "I cannot bear this burden alone." The Senate turned back a wrong-headed attempt to kill the wheat deal with Russia. Then a Senate-House conference loosened the strangle hold that Congress was about to impose on the President's handling of foreign aid.

A HIGH ADMINISTRATION official, responding to a reporter's question, said there would be no effort to "exploit" the memory of the late President in dealing with Congress. This was a politic answer of course, but not altogether accurate.

Already Mr. Johnson has said a couple of times that passage of this or that measure would be a fitting memorial to his predecessor. There were similar statements by friends of the administration before the vote on the financing arrangements for the wheat sale.

every regular physical examination. He says that the young should routinely have a test every year.

There is nothing wrong with using the Kennedy name in this way. Nor is there anything wrong with President Johnson seeking to identify himself as completely as possible with his predecessor's goals. This might help Mr. Johnson win election to a full term, but it also will help him to be an effective President, which is what the country and much of the world prays for.

The tragedy in Dallas and its immediate aftermath pointed up another truth, one not nearly so comforting as the inability of the American system. This second truth is the frightening sensitivity throughout the world not only to American policy, but to the instrument of that policy, the President.

Those in government who spoke privately with the foreign visitors who came for the funeral were surprised by the depth of feeling of personal loss that was expressed. And this applied not only to the leaders who had known John F. Kennedy. It applied to people, ordinary people everywhere, who felt a kinship with the man in the White House.

THIS HAS a frightening facet because it proved again that a President's personality determines to a large extent the world's attitude toward the United States.

President Kennedy very wisely chose to expose his vice president to the world. There is some question as to how effectively Mr. Johnson used this exposure. Comparisons between Mr. Johnson and Mr. Kennedy as symbols of this country abroad tend to be unfavorable to the new President. But at least Mr. Johnson is not a stranger overseas.

During the next few months, the world, as well as the country, will hold a magnifying glass to the new President. So far he has stood this inspection well.

Ann Landers Answers

Dear Ann Landers: Recently the girls in our college were polled. The question asked was this: "What do you dislike most about the men on this campus?"

The results revealed that the worst thing a fellow can say when he asks for a date is this: "Are you doing anything Saturday night?"

No girl wants to admit she doesn't have a date. Some girls actually say, "Yes, I'm busy," when they aren't doing a darned thing.

The second most creepy guy on campus is the one who asks: "What would you like to do Friday evening?"

The boy who calls a girl for a date should have some sort of entertainment in mind. It's unfair to put the girl in the awkward position of suggesting a movie or a play or a dance because the fellow may not have the money or transportation for such an evening.

The girls unanimously agreed that the biggest drip of all is the guy who stands at the door and says, "May I kiss you?"

It's not too bad if the girl doesn't want to be kissed—all she has to say is "no." But waiting for a kiss after saying, "Yes, you may" is gruesome. The fellow who hasn't confidence enough to risk a rebuff is just as well off to forget it.—BETTY COED.

Dear Betty: Here's your letter and I agree wholeheartedly.

And now may we hear from the fellows? What are your beefs about the females on campus? Send 'em, and I'll print 'em—that is, if they're printable.

Holiday Hazard

Dear Ann: My husband and I went shopping for Christmas gifts for our children and ended up in a big argument right in the toy department.

My husband wanted to buy some fancy gun and holster sets for our sons. I said NO. I feel strongly that there is too much emphasis today on violence, shooting and murder. Any evening of any week will find the living room piled high with corpses from TV thrillers. These shot-em-ups are labeled "family entertainment."

I'm opposed to a daily diet of brutality and death and I don't allow our 7- and 9-year-old boys to watch TV discriminately for this reason.

My husband says guns, cowboys and Indians and cops and robbers are all part of growing up. He claims make-believe shooting games are a healthy outlet for youthful energies and since the good guys always win in the end it teaches children respect for the law.

We did not buy the guns yesterday but my husband said I should write to you because he's sure your answer would support his viewpoint then and he could buy the guns later. What do you say?—MYRNA.

Dear Myrna: Sorry, but if your husband is waiting for me to tell him to go back and buy guns for the kids, he'll wait a long time.

I recommend as "energy outlets" footballs, baseballs, table tennis sets, roller skates, ice skates, tricycles and bicycles. These are vastly better than guns.

I agree with you, mother—continuous viewing of brutality and violence is bad for children. Guns are for killing and toy guns make a game of destruction.

Through The Years

10 YEARS AGO — The Quaker Lodge, Fraternal Order of Police last night re-elected Martin Lutsch of Salem President. The Quaker City Band of Salem met yesterday to set up its 1964 concert series arrangements.

25 YEARS AGO — Liberty gas station at the corner of E. Pershing and S. Lundy Aves. was robbed of $19 last night.

The Helping Hand class of the Methodist Church held its annual Christmas party last night at the church.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruise —

Dear Readers: Now is the time . . . to get the Christmas spirit because "It" will soon be here. And though we know it rolls around every year, it always sneaks up on us sooner than we expect.

So . . . let's go buy a Christmas tree.

Here are some hints to reeling that purchase (tried and true for 21 years by Heloise and family . . .

First and foremost, look for a FRESH tree. If the branches are dead looking, don't buy it. This can be tested by running your hand up and down a branch and if the needles fall off . . . look out. It's old. After all, we do want the branches to last during the holidays, eh? Besides it could be a fire hazard.

When the family goes to pick out the tree look for a full one. Perfect trees cost more than imperfect ones. But remember, before you spend extra money for a perfect tree, only one side shows when it's set against the wall or in a corner.

The money we save may be used to buy more Christmas decorations . . . which can be used year after year after year.

Too, some people (know who THAT is?) buy these "odd" inexpensive trees which are misshapen . . . purposely. I think they are lovely and dignified.

THESE "VACANT" places in the tree may be "filled-up" by using a piece of ordinary green or black sewing thread from 12 to 20 inches long and threading it through the eye on your decoration, tying a knot, and hung from the branch above. These hanging decorations not only fill up that empty space but "lend" what decorators call "the professional touch!"

The ball or decoration will hang from 6 to 10 inches from the branch above the hollow space and is really "quite different." We have used this method each year since we lived in China.

It's another good idea (which I learned in the Orient, too) to put your tree in a pot of water as soon as you arrive home with it, (remember those trees have been cut weeks before) and take the garden hose and sprinkle the branches to water them down. The tree may either be propped up against the side of the house, against a fence or clothes line for this purpose.

Leave it outside overnight to drain and absorb the moisture . . . from the hosing, and the dew that will fall during the night. This will further rejuvenate the little bristles or needles.

Now comes the time to put the tree in its stand. We learned a good lesson a few years ago. TAKE the tree stand along when you buy the tree! Ever get home and the trunk of the tree wouldn't fit the container? Ooops . . .

MOST CHRISTMAS tree salesmen will put a tree in your container or at least make sure it fits the one you bring. And if they won't . . . drive another few blocks and find a sweet, friendly salesman.

CAUTION: Before applying last year's Christmas tree lights, (or even this year's, for that matter) TEST 'em!

We don't want to start a fire. I suggest you find one good string of lights, lay them out on the floor, screw all the good bulbs in and then WIGGLE the wires a few times to see if any light goes out or you have a short. If you find one, discard it. Might just save a life. Hundreds of homes burn each year from Christmas tree faulty wiring.

CAUTION NUMBER TWO: If you use any synthetic sprays, (I find it best to spray the trees first before putting on any decorations) put newspapers or soiled sheets over all your drapes, coffee tables, venetian blinds (all you have to do is fold a piece of newspaper and hang it through a slot on your blind) your rug, the end of the sofa, etc. . . .

Far better to pick up a few papers after the tree is decorated than to spend hours afterwards cleaning up snow, needles from the tree and dust on your precious furniture later.

Let me caution you on one thing. Be VERY CAREFUL when you bring in mistletoe and red berries . . . they are dynamite if one should fall on your rug and somebody steps on it (I learned the hard way). Watch the berries, gals. Prevention is worth two hours of work and a ruined rug the next day. Gather the family together and let the entire family decorate the tree. The kiddies may hang a few decorations in the wrong place but mother can always rearrange them the next day (they will never know it). And don't forget to KEEP WATER in your container. A mixture of sugar and water is good if you can't afford commercial products.

And Happy Tree Decorating. HELOISE.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Little Relief For Canker Sores

One of the most annoying of life's minor afflictions is the common canker sore. Those feel misery all out of proportion to the little white sore spots in one's mouth.

Dr. Brandstadt

My pleasure in passing along what I thought was a hopeful treatment for canker sores recently has turned to disappointment. On the basis of medical reports I recommended trying iododeoxyuridine (trade name Stoxil). This, it now seems, was a mistake. This is used only in treating ulcers of the cornea of the eye resulting from the same cause as canker sores, herpes simplex.

So to those who have called me sharply to account for this false hope, I apologize and give assurance that I am still on a hunt for the answer to canker sores.

SOME BABIES, as a result of a birth injury often associated with an unusually difficult delivery, have a wryneck. Sometimes the mother can feel a hard lump in the muscles of the neck on the affected side.

This is a blood tumor and it may persist for several weeks after which time the clotted blood in the muscle will have been replaced by nonelastic scar tissue.

If a baby is found to have a wryneck, massaging the neck on the affected side and gentle pulling of the head toward the opposite side should be done several times a day. Often this is all that is needed to prevent the deformity from becoming permanent. If the wry-neck is allowed to persist the face will become noticeably asymmetrical.

In about 5 per cent of these children the condition is not easily corrected and an operation is necessary. Since correction by simpler means sometimes takes nearly a year, the child should not be operated on until after his first birthday.

After surgical correction it is necessary to keep the head in a normal position for several weeks to prevent it from returning to the wryneck position.

Q—My 5-year-old is chronically constipated. He has a bowel movement every 4 or 5 days and then only if I give him fig juice every day and an extra helping of prunes every two or three days. It doesn't seem to affect his appetite or sleep and he has no pain. What would you suggest?

A—In some persons it is normal to have a bowel movement only once or twice a week.

The fact that your son eats and sleeps well suggests that he may be such a person. If when his bowels move the stool is not unduly hard and difficult to pass, he is not constipated in the true sense of the word. Your policy of giving him fruits and fruit juices is the best way to prevent true constipation.

Housing Legislation Problem Faces Congress Next Year

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Extensive expansion of housing legislation is one of the major new problems—not a hold-over from this year—that Congress will have to deal with in 1964.

Public housing and urban renewal sections of the $6 billion omnibus housing bill passed by Congress in 1961 will expire next year.

College housing will have one more year to run, and the veterans' direct home loan provision has two more years. But there are a number of new housing problems to face.

The National Association of Home Builders estimates there will be 862,000 new families formed in each of the next three years, rising to over a million a year from 1967 to 1970.

The increase in the number of 20-to-22-year-olds in the last four years of this decade is expected to create a new high demand in multifamily rental units. This demand has been increasing since 1960, reducing single-family home ownership proportionately.

ALL THESE CHANGING factors force housing experts to do some pretty sharp calculating on the volume of construction to prepare for in the next few years.

Housing and Home Finance Administrator Robert C. Weaver probably will release the government's official estimates early in December.

F. W. Dodge Corp. already has made its prediction of a 2.1 per cent increase in housing construction volume to a $20.25 billion total for 1964.

A survey for the National Lumber Manufacturers Assn. predicts about 1.55 million new housing starts for this year and next.

Two-thirds of this new housing is expected to be built in five areas of population concentration. They are the Boston-New York to Washington "Megapolis," Central Great Lakes from Buffalo to Milwaukee, California, "metropolitan" Texas and Florida.

Atlanta, Phoenix, Denver, Minneapolis-St. Paul and Seattle are other areas picked for major population and housing growth.

MAKING A SURVEY on existing U.S. housing—the base for all the new construction—Department of Agriculture's annual Outlook Conference in Washington has turned up much interesting data.

Of the 58 million occupied housing units reported by the 1960 census, one-fourth had been built during the preceding 10 years.

Another fourth were reported structurally unsound and lacking in essential facilities. A fifth of these units—5 per cent of the total—were classed as dilapidated.

It was so bad that these units should be torn down or extensively rebuilt. This is where the government's urban renewal and rural development programs find their major work to do.

The number of occupied housing units in 1960 was 23 per cent greater than in 1950, although the population increased only 20 per cent in this decade.

One surprise finding is that 21 per cent of rented and 9 per cent of owner-occupied housing sheltered a person living alone. Half of these people were over 60 years of age. This is where part of the demand for special housing for the aged comes from.

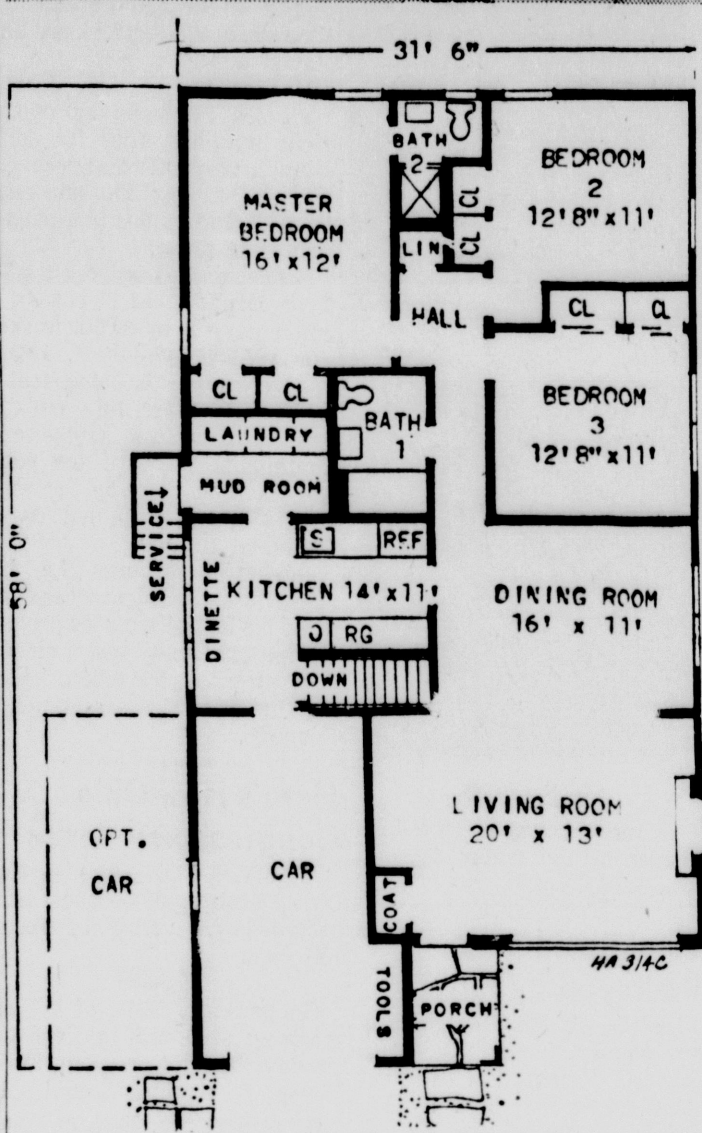

Nearly two-thirds of America's housing units are owner-occupied. But 60 per cent of them were mortgaged and 9 out of 10 had been mortgaged since 1950.

FARM HOUSING and rural nonfarm housing have shown great improvement in the last decade. Twenty years ago only 15 per cent of rural housing boasted mechanical refrigerators. Today practically every farm home has one.

Seventy-five per cent have running water, 62 per cent have flush toilets, and more than 50 per cent have freezers and other appliances.

Farmers Home Administration loans are responsible for much of this new construction and modernization. For the year ending last June 30, FHA made 20,000 housing loans for a total of $186 million.

But the rural South still presents the greatest problems in housing, since 40 per cent of all farm homes are found in that area and many of them are classed as dilapidated.

FOR A NARROW but deep lot, this three-bedroom ranch takes the prize. Complete with one-car garage, it measures only 31 feet 6 inches. A second garage can be added if there is space. Square foot area is 1,396. Architect Lester Cohen, Room 704, 48 W. 48th St., New York 36, N.Y., designed Plan HA314C with a wide look. There is excellent room layout. Service area, kitchen, mud room and laundry, is at the side, with a side entrance, and bedrooms are in the back.

Plane

International Airport, where relatives waited for the plane that never arrived.

George H. Lewis, a resident of Delancy Road, where much of the shredded debris fell, said:

"When I first saw it (the plane) the flames were coming out slowly. Then the wind was pushing them back and it looked like a large torpedo..."

"When it hit, flames shot up higher than the house. It was strewn over a large area. There were overnight bags and clothes right in the middle of the road."

"There was a strong odor of fuel burning. I saw that there didn't appear to be any survivors."

Grim-faced policemen tossed clothing, luggage, papers and other debris into piles. One was asked if anything had been found intact.

"If there is, I haven't seen it, and I've been pretty much around the area," he replied.

Pine trees and a cornfield were covered with debris until they looked like macabre Christmas trees.

The four-jet plane had been groping through the storm on instruments immediately before the crash. Then there was the shattering blast and burning wreckage fell from the sky.

Then:

"Just the noise of the plane, a roaring sound, a combination of the wind through the plane and flames," said Lewis.

Three Burglaries In County Probed

Columbiana County sheriff's department is investigating three burglaries that occurred over the weekend.

Saturday at 12:23 p.m. Two Lisbon truckers, whose vehicles were parked at Cline's Restaurant, east of Columbiana, on Rt. 14, reported that chains valued at $168 were stolen from their trucks. The drivers are Walter Johnston, RD 3, and Jack Hall, 733 E. Lincoln Way.

Ralph Flannigan, proprietor of a service station at Homeworth said approximately $80 in money and merchandise was stolen from his station Saturday night. Deputy Robert Beresford said the intruders broke windows to enter.

Two cabins at the Paul E. Dean Camp at Peace Valley, east of New Waterford, were broken into during the past week. Deputy Howard Gray said windows were forced open in both cabins. Two kerosene lamps and a bed roll were stolen.

Kidnaped

Two men, one armed with a small revolver, burst in, asking "Where's the money?" sheriff's deputies said Foss told them.

They took the small amount in the two men's wallets, then tied and gagged Foss with tape. Foss said they also taped Sinatra's hands.

Foss said a third man might have been standing outside. One man carried a package of some sort, he added.

After forcing Foss to lie on the floor, the men left with Sinatra. Tire tracks heading towards Reno were found later.

Sinatra is one of the entertainer's three children. His mother is Sinatra Sr.'s first wife, the former Nancy Barabato, who was reported at her Hollywood home.

Gene Evans, spokesman for Harrah's Club on the south shore of Lake Tahoe, said young Sinatra's room was on the second floor of the two-story motel, separated by a parking lot from the casino. The motel is used exclusively for Harrah's guests.

Evans said there was no mention of any possible ransom during the motel room incident.

One of the men was heard to say, "We've got him. We've got to get him to Sacramento."

Sinatra Sr. arrived at Reno airport early today and was met by Washoe County Dist. Atty. William Raggio. The two left immediately for the sheriff's substation at Zephyr Cove on Lake Tahoe where search headquarters had been set up.

But snow and icy roads forced them to postpone the trip and Raggio announced they were staying in Reno for the time being.

Sinatra had no statement for newsmen, but Raggio said the singer-actor was very concerned and upset. Raggio said he and Sinatra are good friends and he stressed that he is taking no official part in the case since the kidnaping occurred outside his jurisdiction.

the President's. Two police helicopters patrolled overhead. Officers gazed suspiciously at open apartment windows, and the occupants inside shut them hastily at times.

At Temple Emanu-El, the largest Jewish house of worship in the world, 2,200 mourners and visitors were screened. Pocketbooks were inspected. Cameras were prohibited. A bundle of newspapers was required to be left outside.

Packages were opened — one contained a bologna sandwich and two apples.

The temple's 300-seat balcony was restricted to newsmen. The police bomb squad checked floral displays at the funeral before the presidential party arrived.

Scaroyadii Lodge Hold Election

Gary Wilhelm, New Waterford, was elected lodge chief of the Scaroyadii Lodge of the Order of Arrow at the annual banquet Saturday evening at Orchard Hill School in Leetonia. There were over 100 in attendance.

Other officers are Tom Herriott, East Palestine, first vice second vice chief; Richard Woods Jr., Leetonia, Secretary and Tom Southerin, East Palestine, treasurer.

Atty. Jack Cohen of East Palestine was the guest speaker. Bud Hanselman of East Liverpool, Lay adviser, presented Bill Hughes of East Liverpool a past chief's pin.

Beloit Councilmen To Convene Tonight

BELOIT—Progress of a committee of councilmen who have been negotiating with the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. on the company's proposed rate increase will be reported tonight at Council meeting. The committee which has met with gas company officials after the firm's 10 per cent rate increase proposal is comprised of mayor-elect William Eshelman, Council President John Snyder and Dean Ritchie.

Council may also appoint a successor to Eshelman who will assume his duties as mayor in January.

NO SILVER IN THEM THAR BILLS—The Treasury Department has placed a new dollar bill in circulation. It has no silver backing and is the first change in the dollar bill since 1957 when the motto "In God We Trust" was added. While the face of the new bill has the same reassuring portrait of George Washington, all references to silver above and below his portrait have been deleted. (new bill at top). The more than 50 million new bills will free the government's stockpile of silver bullion for coins.

church, across Lafayette Park from the White House.

On Saturday night—Johnson's first in the White House—he took his wife, Lady Bird, out to dinner at the home of his longtime aide, Walter Jenkins. They stayed out until 10:45 p.m.

Earlier in the day, Johnson surprised newsmen by inviting them into his office for coffee—and a very informal news conference. Among the announcements made at this unusual session were these:

—Johnson has ordered the Defense Department to cut its civilian payroll by 25,000 workers—to 997,000 by July 1, 1965.

—McNamara is being sent to South Viet Nam this week to have a new look at the anti-Communist war and the political situation there in the wake of a military coup that ousted the Diem regime.

—Johnson believes he has made "very good progress" toward his initial goals of promoting national unity and a smooth governmental transition following the Nov. 22 assassination of Kennedy.

Here's How Ohio Congressmen Voted

WASHINGTON (AP) — How Ohio members of Congress were recorded as voting at recent roll calls

Senate

On passage, 59-19, of bill authorizing $950 million river basin development program. For—Young, D; against—Lausche, D.

On acceptance, 50-36, of House version of bill extending Mexican farm labor importation program for one year. For—Lausche, Young.

House

On passage, 216-12, of bill which would permit domestic cotton mills to buy American cotton at the same subsidized price at which foreign competitors buy it. Republicans against—Abele, Ashbrook, Ayres, Betts, F. Bolton, O. Bolton, Bow, Brown, Clancy, Devine, Harsha, Latta, McCulloch, Minshall, Mosher, Rich, Schenck, Taft; Democrats for—Hays, Kirwan, Sechrist; Democrats against—Feighan, Vanik; Democrats not voting—Ashley.

Taft, who served in the Ohio House of Representatives from 1955 until his election last fall to be congressman-at-large, won in an at-large race by a margin of some 600,000 votes.

Although Bolton had been toying with the idea of running for the Senate, he said after Taft's announcement that he would not contest for that seat.

Bolton was first elected in 1952 and served two House terms from 1953 through 1956. He did not seek reelection until last fall.

Bolton plans to hold a news conference at 9 a.m. Tuesday in Cleveland. It is likely he will announce at that time he will file for the at-large House seat to be vacated by Taft.

Bolton plans to hold two other news conferences Tuesday, at 1 p.m. in Dayton and at 4 p.m. in Columbus.

The Bolton name is well known in Ohio. The congressman's mother, Rep. Frances P. Bolton, R-Ohio, has been in Congress since 1940, succeeding her deceased husband, Chester C. Bolton, who served nine years.

Lisbon School Board To Meet Tuesday

LISBON — The Lisbon Board of Education will meet Tuesday night and Supt. Oliver Payne said a variety of matters awaits action.

Friend St., Columbiana, is in fairly good condition in Salem City Hospital where he was admitted at 4:45 p.m. Saturday for treatment of a fracture of the right knee received when his car slipped out of gear while he was working on the motor, and pinned him against the garage wall.

Raymond Reber, 30, of Homeworth, was treated and released at 12:45 a.m. today at Alliance City Hospital for contusions of the left wrist received while at work at Transue-Williams Co. plant.

Bolivia

day night called the seizure of the Americans an indefensible act and said President Johnson's offer of assistance would include anything that might be required.

The statement said "the President has been assured through our ambassador in Bolivia by the president of Bolivia that every effort is being made to secure the prompt release of these United States officials."

The miners announced they would start a series of strikes today at the 25 mines run by the government.

Besides Martin, the other Americans are Michael A. Kristula of Cadillac, Mich., also a USIA information officer; Bernard Rifkin, 52, a native of Brooklyn, N.Y., labor adviser for the U.S. Agency for International Development; and Robert Gergerstrom, a Peace Corps volunteer whose parents live in Honolulu.

They were seized after they went into the Catavi area to deliver a $15,000 U.S. government aid check toward the building of a school for miners' children.

The other captives were three Canadians, a Dutchman, and other unidentified foreigners and Bolivians. All apparently were mining technicians.

Interior Minister Jose Antonio Arez said the government would use every means at its disposal to win the release of the hostages. But he said "under no circumstances and under no pressure" would the government free the two union leaders, Irineo Pimental and Federico Escobar.

Youth Injured Slightly

Willie White, 13, of Wellsville received a bump on the head Saturday morning at 8:45 when a car in which he was riding struck the rear of a tractor-trailer on Route 7, a half-mile north of Rogers.

Young White was a passenger in an auto driven by Marion Hicks, 71, of Wellsville which crashed into the back of the slow-moving northbound truck operated by Edwin Gorby, 42, of Rogers.

The Patrol cited Hicks for driving without the assured clear distance.

Ice resulted in a skid of a car operated by Thomas Spreacener, 23, of Morgan, Pa. about 7 p.m. Sunday on Route 7, three miles south of Rogers. The out-of-control auto went off the right side, spun around and hit an embankment and some large rocks alongside the road.

A Kensington youth was cited to Juvenile Court after a one-car mishap Sunday at 12:40 a.m. on Alt. Route 14, about two miles east of Salem. Eugene Minor, 16, was driving east around a curve, dropped off the right side, went left of center after losing control, and rolled his car over in the ditch.

Alliance Motorist Cited After Crash

LISBON — Frank Newson, 43, Alliance, was cited for failure to stop within the assured clear distance Saturday at 12:25 p.m. following a collision of his truck and a car at the square.

The Sad Story of the Shrinking Dollar...

Pity this poor woman . . . perhaps a friend or neighbor of yours. She had the idea that if she got into the family car and drove many miles to THE BIG CITY, then she could do better with that shopping dollar than she could right here in our town.

When she finally reached home again, she was tired and unhappy . . .
but a lot wiser. After figuring the cost of gasoline and oil, wear and tear on the car, parking fees, restaurant meals and the repair bill for a badly dented fender, that shopping dollar had shrunk so much she had to squint, to see it.

Moral: Buy everything you need from your local merchants. Their stores may be smaller, but in selection, style and value they invite comparison with any other source. And local shopping is a relaxed pleasure, not a costly, time-consuming beating.

Plane

International Airport, where relatives waited for the plane that never arrived.

George H. Lewis, a resident of Delancy Road, where much of the shredded debris fell, said:

"When I first saw it (the plane) the flames were coming out slowly. Then the wind was pushing them back and it looked like a large torpedo..."

"When it hit, flames shot up higher than the house. It was strewn over a large area. There were overnight bags and clothes right in the middle of the road."

"There was a strong odor of fuel burning. I saw that there didn't appear to be any survivors."

Grim-faced policemen tossed clothing, luggage, papers and other debris into piles. One was asked if anything had been found intact.

"If there is, I haven't seen it, and I've been pretty much around the area," he replied.

Pine trees and a cornfield were covered with debris until they looked like macabre Christmas trees.

The four-jet plane had been groping through the storm on instruments immediately before the crash. Then there was the shattering blast and burning wreckage fell from the sky.

Then: "Just the noise of the plane, a roaring sound, a combination of the wind through the plane and flames," said Lewis.

Three Burglaries In County Probed

Columbiana County sheriff's department is investigating three burglaries that occurred over the weekend.

Ralph Flannigan, proprietor of a service station at Homeworth said approximately $80 in money and merchandise was stolen from his station Saturday night. Deputy Robert Beresford said the intruders broke windows to enter.

Two cabins at the Paul E. Dean Camp at Peace Valley, east of New Waterford, were broken into during the past week. Deputy Howard Gray said windows were forced open in both cabins. Two kerosene lamps and a bed roll were stolen.

Kidnaped

Two men, one armed with a small revolver, burst in, asking "Where's the money?" sheriff's deputies said Foss told them.

They took the small amount in the two men's wallets, then tied and gagged Foss with tape. Foss said they also taped Sinatra's hands.

Foss said a third man might have been standing outside. One man carried a package of some sort, he added.

After forcing Foss to lie on the floor, the men left with Sinatra. Tire tracks heading towards Reno were found later.

Sinatra is one of the entertainer's three children. His mother is Sinatra Sr.'s first wife, the former Nancy Barabato, who was reported at her Hollywood home.

Gene Evans, spokesman for Harrah's Club on the south shore of Lake Tahoe, said young Sinatra's room was on the second floor of the two-story motel, separated by a parking lot from the casino. The motel is used exclusively for Harrah's guests.

Evans said there was no mention of any possible ransom during the motel room incident.

One of the men was heard to say, "We've got him. We've got to get him to Sacramento."

Sinatra Sr. arrived at Reno airport early today and was met by Washoe County Dist. Atty. William Raggio. The two left immediately for the sheriff's substation at Zephyr Cove on Lake Tahoe where search headquarters had been set up.

But snow and icy roads forced them to postpone the trip and Raggio announced they were staying in Reno for the time being.

Sinatra had no statement for newsmen, but Raggio said the singer-actor was very concerned and upset. Raggio said he and Sinatra are good friends and he stressed that he is taking no official part in the case since the kidnaping occurred outside his jurisdiction.

Bolton

D-Ohio.

Young, 74, is expected to announce before Christmas that he will go after another six-year senate term.

Taft, who served in the Ohio House of Representatives from 1955 until his election last fall to be congressman-at-large, won in an at-large race by a margin of some 600,000 votes.

Although Bolton had been toying with the idea of running for the Senate, he said after Taft's announcement that he would not contest for that seat.

Bolton was first elected in 1952 and served two House terms from 1953 through 1956. He did not seek reelection until last fall.

Bolton plans to hold a news conference at 9 a.m. Tuesday in Cleveland. It is likely he will announce at that time he will file for the at-large House seat to be vacated by Taft.

Bolton plans to hold two other news conferences Tuesday, at 1 p.m. in Dayton and at 4 p.m. in Columbus.

The Sad Story of the Shrinking Dollar...

Pity this poor woman . . . perhaps a friend or neighbor of yours. She had the idea that if she got into the family car and drove many miles to THE BIG CITY, then she could do better with that shopping dollar than she could right here in our town.

When she finally reached home again, she was tired and unhappy . . . but a lot wiser. After figuring the cost of gasoline and oil, wear and tear on the car, parking fees, restaurant meals and the repair bill for a badly dented fender, that shopping dollar had shrunk so much she had to squint, to see it.

Moral: Buy everything you need from your local merchants. Their stores may be smaller, but in selection, style and value they invite comparison with any other source. And local shopping is a relaxed pleasure, not a costly, time-consuming beating.

Chicago, Green Bay, Giants Post Victories

Pitt's Late Rally Measures Dallas

By MIKE RATHET The Pittsburgh Steelers, stopped on fourth down every time they've been close to the National Football League throne room, have faked their way into a winner-take-all battle at New York and a shot at grabbing their first Eastern Conference title.

The Steelers had the clock and the scoreboard stacked against them at Dallas Sunday, trailing 19-17 with only 3½ minutes to go while the Giants' 44-14 victory over Washington already had been posted. And the Steelers were locked on their own 16, fourth down and 14 to go.

Pittsburgh quarterback Ed Brown went back into punt formation, faked a kick, then whipped a 42-yard pass to Red Mack. The Steelers kept the drive going until Theron Sapp bolted 24 yards off right guard for the deciding touchdown with 1:53 left—his first TD as a Steeler.

The Steelers, unable to win a division crown since they entered the league in 1933, now are 7-3 to the Giants' 10-3. Pittsburgh must beat New York to win the title while the Giants can clinch their third straight Eastern championship with either a victory or a tie.

The situation is much the same in the West, where the Chicago Bears lead at 10-1-2 after averaging their only defeat by downing San Francisco 27-7. Green Bay is a half-step back at 9-2-1 following a 31-14 romp over Los Angeles in a Saturday game.

The Packers, seeking an unprecedented third consecutive NFL title, can win the Western title outright only if they win at San Francisco Saturday and Chicago loses. The Bears can clinch either with a tie or a victory against Detroit.

The Lions knocked Cleveland out of the Eastern race Sunday by rolling to a 38-10 victory that continued their hex over the Browns. And St. Louis, the only other Eastern team that went into action alive, was eliminated despite a 38-14 thumping of Philadelphia built on Charlie Johnson's four touchdown passes.

In the only game on the weekend program that did not have a bearing on the tilt races, Johnny Unitas had a field day in passing Baltimore to a 41-10 walloping of Minnesota.

Boston took over first place in the American Football League's Eastern Division with a 46-28 victory over Houston. Oakland kept its Western title hopes alive by drubbing first-place San Diego 41-27. Buffalo crushed New York 45-14 and Kansas City trounced Denver 52-21.

Giardello Captures Boxing Title, Whips Dick Tiger

By MURRAY ROSE

Associated Press Sports Writer ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—To freshly crowned champion Joey Giardello, the middleweight title means vindication, redemption, and most important, a better life for his wife and three children.

"This is what I dreamed of but I never thought I'd get the chance again," said Giardello, who conquered Nigerian Dick Tiger Saturday night.

"Now, maybe, people will stop throwing up the past, and maybe they'll just look at me as the champion. That's the way I'd like it to be."

"I'm no longer a wild kid. I did a lot of crazy things and I paid for it."

Eight years ago Giardello was convicted of assaulting a service station attendant. He was sentenced to six to 18 months but was paroled after serving three. In a move to hasten his rehabilitation, the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission restored his boxing license.

He fought his way back to the top and a title fight with Gene Fullmer on April 20, 1960. The

The losers trailed 42-29 at intermission and 64-41 at the end of three quarters.

Don Koches took scoring honors for Lordstown with 24 points. Scot Thomas carded 15 and Ron Clay finished with 13. Lordstown reserves handed Greenford's junior varsity a 61-24 setback.

Country Store

This spring I intend to make a tour of the North-west, West and Southwest, then I will have visited every state accept, of course, Alaska and Hawaii, those will have to wait.

I have found traveling to be very helpful for me here in running the Country Store. Not only do I pick up items of interest, but also ideas which help me to make the Country Store more interesting and unusual.

We have been getting an awful lot of new people here; I have talked with so many of them; each adds a little something to help make our place better.

Santa and the Haunted House

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: The Storyteller told of three children who had the same names as the children listening to the story. One day they went near the Haunted House and were met by Nog in a green cloud.

(Chapter Six) STORYTELLER FALLS ASLEEP

The Storyteller seemed very tired now. His voice got so low the children could hardly hear him. They leaned forward and tugged at his legs and urged him on.

"What did Nog do when he saw the children?"

He came out of his green cloud, said the Storyteller and he shook his fists at the children and shouted, "What are you doing here?"

THE TWO LITTLE GIRLS hid behind their brother's back and all three children shivered and shook. Then Jeremy thought, "We have as much right here as he does." So he said, "We wanted that tree. For Christmas."

Nog threw back his head and laughed and laughed.

"Forget the tree, he shouted. 'You'll never see another Christmas.'"

"Why not?" asked the boy.

"Because there isn't going to

But when they reached Burning Tree Road . . .

be Christmas any more. Not when Santa Claus eats the cake I'm making him."

"What kind of cake?" quavered Jeremy.

"A Trouble Cake!" shouted Nog. "Now you clear out of here and don't come back again because little children don't agree with me."

THE CHILDREN, hardly daring to breathe, backed away inch by inch. When they got to the road, they turned and ran all the way home.

The Storyteller stopped speaking. His head fell forward on his chest and he began to snore. Miss Jo jumped up and pulled on his arm.

"Don't go to sleep! she wailed. 'Tell us what happened! The Storyteller snored even louder."

"Wake up!" cried Sissy, pulling his hair. Jeremy put his mouth to the Storyteller's ear and shouted, "Wake up! Wake up!"

But the Storyteller slept on. Miss Jo began to cry. "I want to know what happened!" "Hell tell us when he wakes up," said Jeremy.

"But maybe he'll NEVER wake up!" wept Miss Jo. "And then Nog will send Santa the Trouble Cake and Santa will die and there'll never be Christmas again."

"Oh, don't be silly," said Jeremy. "It's only a story."

"How do you know?" demanded Sissy. "Maybe Nog is real. We were in it and we are real."

"But," said Jeremy uncertainly, "he's a Storyteller."

"Prove it," said Sissy.

"All right," said Jeremy. "I'll go to the Haunted House and see if Nog is there." He began putting on his coat.

SISSY AND MISS JO stared at him in horror. Then Sissy said, "I'll go, too." And she snatched up her snowsuit.

"Wait for me! Wait for me!" cried Miss Jo and she flew to the closet to dig out her boots.

Bundled in scarves and wraps, the children set out. At first they ran but when they reached Burning Tree Road they went slower and slower. When they saw the old broken-down house at the far curve of the road, they stopped.

"I'd better go on alone," said Jeremy. "No," said Sissy. "I'm coming, too." "Me, too," said Miss Jo.

"Well, I'll lead," said Jeremy. "You two stay behind me."

Single file they crept on tip-toe the rest of the way — so quietly a mouse would not have heard them. They came to the old house and there sure enough was a sign on front saying "This House is Haunted."

Sissy gasped but Jeremy said, "Shh. Anybody could have put it there."

Then he crept up to the house and climbed over the crumbled-down stairs and looked right through the doorway. Sissy and Miss Jo, too scared to come but even more scared to stay behind, peered over his shoulders.

It was so dim inside that for a while they could see nothing at all. Then they heard a sound and saw a sight that chilled their blood and froze them to the spot.

This and That

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Playing Santa Claus, the average U.S. family will spend $147 or more on Christmas presents. Also we will buy some $125 million in postage stamps.

The custom of exchanging gifts at the beginning of the New Year, started by the ancient Romans, is still popular in Europe and China. Giving gifts at Yuletide is largely an American tradition.

N. Georgetown

Women's Missionary Society of the First Brethren Church met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Otis Stoffer with 16 members present. Mrs. Dan Planchock and Mrs. Robert Crist were special guests.

The meeting opened by singing Christmas carols. The call to worship was given by Mrs. Forrest Albright, who read the Scripture and offered prayer. Bible study was the Christmas story. The Evangelist topic "Building My Life Through Complete Surrender," was given by Mrs. Ronald Blake.

The Missionary Society will host "family night" at the church in January when a covered dish supper will be held.

A quarterly gift was sent to the Mission Board. Each member is to bring food to the church to be given to a worthy family for Christmas. Mrs. Robert Greene was appointed assistant treasurer.

A gift exchange was held. Next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Forrest Albright. Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Barry Newhart.

An invitation was received to the Columbiana County Council joint meeting to be held Friday at Lisbon Post 275.

Several "thank you" notes were read and names were turned in to the Child Welfare and Community Service chairman.

Mrs. Lowell Buckman was in charge of games with prizes awarded to Mrs. William Hoff, Mrs. Michael Lutch, Mrs. Robert Eggle and Mrs. Vera Paise. Next meeting will be held on Jan. 7 at the Post home.
